

How to Find Automobile Invoice Prices Online

If you're thinking about buying a new car and want to make sure you get a good deal, here's some good news for you: Now you can go online and get invoice prices for makes and models of all major automobile types.

Steps:

1. Click on the Related Sites provided below to view Web sites with automobile pricing information. Or for additional information, visit a search engine such as AltaVista or Google.
2. Type the keywords "invoice prices autos." Include the model, make and year of the car you want information about.
3. Press Enter on your keyboard or click the Search button to submit your query.
4. Click on a site that best suits your interests or needs from the list of search results provided by the search engine.
5. Follow the directions provided by the site to find and compare pricing information. Manufacturer suggested retail price and the dealer invoice price are generally included.
6. Click the Back button on your Web browser to return to the list of search results and choose another site to explore.

Tips:

- Miles per gallon and horsepower measurements are also available.
- You can see the standard equipment that comes with the car and check the list of options to see how much the car will cost with everything you want.
- Many sites allow you to compare several dealers' prices directly on the site.
- If given the option, leave your e-mail address or phone number if you'd like someone to get in touch with you after you've seen the invoice price.
